Percy Owen, the automobile expert, who competed in the international race in Ire-and last summer, caused the arrest yesterday of two men against whom Thomas Regan, who was secretary of the late W. C. Whitney, appeared as complainant.

The men said they were Frank Daly of 818 West Thirty-ninth street and James Fogarty of 217 West Forty-second street. Owen says the two men called at his automobile store at Fifty-fourth street and Broadway yesterday and said that they wanted to arrange for the storage of four cars for Harry Payne Whitney. One man

Owen does not take cars on storage and the men went from his place to one on the opposite corner. Owen suspected that something was wrong and called up Mr. Regan, who said that he had been looking for two such men and asked Mr. Owen to have them arrested. In the West Side court their examination was put off until court their examination was put off until to-day.

Confidence men with sure things on the races have been very busy among the automobile dealers lately and Owen thinks automobile dealers lately and Owen thinks that the two arrested yesterday may have planned to let him in on a good thing.

Their game usually has been to arrange for the purchase of an expensive car and then confide to the dealer that a "killing"

Two men called on him on Feb. 20, one saying that he was Charles Dwyer, the turfman and owner of Africander. He said that he wanted to buy an automobile for Jockey Fuller and after an hour of talk the visitor ordered a $3,000 car to be sent to Fuller, C. O. D., at the Plaza Hotel a week

As the visitor turned to go he thanked Mr. Owen and suggested that he could repay him for his courtesy by the tip that Rollick II. was out for a "killing" in the fifth race at New Orleans that day. "Mr. Dwyer" thought it worth while for Mr. Owen to put a hundred up—his "man" could get it down, he said.

Owen declined, but half an hour later the "man" returned with three $10 tickets on Rollick. Owen refused to take them. The man sid:

FOSS WOULD PLAY ABROAD. Willing to Tackle France's Best Amateur

Billiardists-Gossip. A billiard match between a leading amateur of this country and the best amateur in France will be arranged for this spring if the French-man is willing. Wilson P. Foss, the former amateur champion, and one of the strongest amateur billiard players in the world, is willing to try his skill against any Parisian amateur-and there are some good ones in the French capital—and says he will defray his own expenses to and from Paris if a contest is assured him beforehand.

Foss is playing 18-inch balk line billiards entirely, and showing fine form in practice with George Slosson. At 18-2 the other day he averaged 40 and then 25 in 300 point games, and made runs of 96, 88 and 82. Resolle, considered the best amateur in France, has and made runs of 96, 88 and 82. Resolle, considered the best amateur in France, has averaged 33 in competition at 18-2-no 14-inch is played in Paris—and Foss is willing to tackle Resolle or any other French amateur of sufficient class. He stipulates that a contest, if arranged, must take place the last week in March or the first week in April. His idea is to play a three night's contest at 18-2, 460 points a night, in some public hall, the net proceeds to go to some Paris charity, and, if so desired, a suitable trophy to go to the winner. Or he is willing to compete in an amateur tournament in Paris with the best players entered.

Some of the amateurs in New York who competed in the recent Liederkranz championship tourney are in favor of changing the style of play for future tournaments from 14-inch balk line to 18-2. Ferdinand Poggenburg, the champion, is said to favor this move if the consent of the donors of the champenship trophy can be had to the change. Most of the U. A. A. B. players are skilful enough to play the 18-inch game, as has been shown by them in practice.

The championship game at 18-1 between Maurice vignaux and George Sutton takes place in Paris to-night. These two played an 18-2 match in January, and vignaux won, and on this point it has been suggested that there be one single style of game for the professionals to play in deciding the championship. Some favor 18-1 in preference to 18-2, on the ground that it is more difficult and more suitable as a test of the skill of the crack professionals.

The third game in the handicap 14-inch balk line tournament at the Fifth Avenue Hotel was played last night between J. M. Millette and F. M. Canda, the latter playing 300 points to Millette's 225. It was a long game and stubbornly contested with Millette and from the fifty-first inning, but he could not overcome the difference of 75 points necessary to win the game.

F. Lowenthal failed last night to defeat his opponent, H. Hoxie, for first honors in the amateur handicap 14-inch balk line tournament in the Knickerbocker Academy, Brooklyn. The tie remains unchanged, and it will require another week of play to determine the winner of the tournament.

Otis took the lead in the first frame with a sweep of 13 balls, and the first frame with a sweep of 13 balls, and in the next three frames increased his lead by 20 points. Mature up to this frame had scored only 13 balls. Otis in the next pyramid pocketed the balls for only single figure counts, while Mature was cutting down his opponent's lead with breaks of 10, 14 and 11, and it was only in the six last frames that Otis succeeded in pocketing two more balls than Mature.

RULES AGAINST AMERICANS,

HERRMANN SAYS NO SUNDAY GAMES AT RIDGEWOOD.

Would Do "Irreparable Harm" to the Brooklyn Club-Foul Strike Rule Stands -Griffith's Men Open Here on April 14 and McGraw's Men on April 19.

Garry Herrmann, chairman of the National Baseball Commission, has decided that the New York Americans cannot play Sunday games at Ridgewood Park this season. Herrmann will not make his decision public until to-day, when, in a lengthy document, he will set forth the fact that by playing at Ridgewood the New York Americans would do the Brooklyn National League Club "an irreparable wrong."

He will also emphasize the point that as the New York Americans have permanent grounds on Manhattan Island, they must be confined in future to the limits of this borough In reaching this verdict, Herrmann di-gresses from the direct evidence taken at Chicago and makes a ruling that will create considerable surprise.

The protest of the Brooklyn club binged on the question as to whether the New York Americans were not encroaching on Brooklyn territory in direct violation of the peace agreement. Herrmann was convinced some time ago that there was no violation of this kind, but still he found it impossible to ren-der a verdict against the interests of his own League, which remained deadlocked on the question all day yesterday. When Treasurer Frank J. Farrell of the New York Americans was semi-officially informed of Herrmann's ruling last night he said:

"All I can do is to take my medicine like a man. I agreed to abide by Herrmann's decision, and I shall keep my word. It is, of course, a disappointment, but we can't always get the best of it."

Herrmann's decision also means that neither the New York nor Brooklyn National League clubs can play Sunday games away from their regular grounds, where such contests are impossible because of the protests of neighboring property owners.

The joint schedule committees were in ses sion all day. The politics of baseball played such an important part in this conference that it was not until nightfall that the two committees were willing to adjourn until this morning, when another whack at the dates will occur. It is understood that there will be few if any conflicts in this city.

The Americans will open the season on April 14 here with the Boston world's champions, who will play three games, after which the two teams will go to the Hub to open the season on April 19, Lexington Day. The Americans will be here on Decoration Day, the banner baseball holiday of the year, while McGraw's men will be away in the

The Nationals will open the season at the Polo Grounds with the Bostons on April 19. Each schedule will consist of 154 games.

There will be another world's series next fall between the National and American League champions. This was agreed upon mutually. The series will consist of seven games. It is said that Herrmann, Hart and Robison were the men who got the National League in line on this proposition.

The joint rules committees had a stormy session. Hart, Hanlon and Max Fleischmann represented the Nationals, with Johnson, Somers and Comiskey acting for the Americans. The bone of contention was the foul strike rule. A year ago Hart and Fleischmann pledged themselves to vote for the abolition of the foul strike if the American League so desired after a year's trial. When Johnson said yesterday that the American League wanted to have the foul strike rule rescinded Hart said that he and Fleischmann could not make good their pledges because the National League had instructed them to vote for its retention.

Consequently the foul strike remains a fixture until such time as both leagues decide to kill it.

Consequently the foul strike remains a fixture until such time as both leagues decide to kill it.

The committees also agreed on a rule that wai permit two coachers on the lines instead of one as in the past, when only one man is on base. The whole code was carefully revised as to clearness and conciseness.

There was a hot fight in the National League over two financial propositions. One was the pooling of holiday gate receipts. The argument set forth in favor of this plan was that if on Decoration Day, for instance, it should rain in Boston, the two clubs stalled there should get a piece of the receipts from the games played on the same day in New York, B. ooklyn and Philadelphia.

Every club in the League except New York was in favor of the plan, but John T. Brush put his back to the wall and would not budge. So New York will stand pat, while the other seven clubs will pool issues on all holidays.

The stockholders of the Philadelphia National League club have been assessed 10 per cent, on the capital stock of $200,000, in order to raise money enough to start the season. The only opponent of the assessment was Barney Dreyfuss, the owner of the Pittsburg champions.

The sale of the Washington American

The only opponent of the assessment was Barney Dreyfuss, the owner of the Pittsburg champions.

The sale of the Washington American League club still hangs fire. Vice-President Charles Jacobeen arrived in town last night to talk over matters with Ban Johnson, who announced that the deal with John R. McLean and Congressman Wadsworth was practically off.

President Johnson announced that his umpire staff for the coming season would be made up of Sheridan, Connolly O'Loughlin, Dwyer, Carpenter and King. He also said that the American League schedule would be given out late to-night. The National League schedule will be made public tomorrow.

R. L. Hedges of the St. Louis Americans had another conference with Frank J. Farrell last night looking to a trade involving the transfer of Pitcher John Powell to the New York Americans, but nothing was done.

Manager McGraw of the New York Nationals said last night that he has decided to take Leigh Lynch, a former Brown University outfielder, on the Southern trip.

The veteran Tom Daly purchased his release vesterday from the Cincinnati Nationals and at once signed to captain, manage and play first base for the Providence Eastern League Club.

The Premier Stakes was the fourth event on the card. Sweet Pepper, the filly that was the central figure in the Griffin scandal of last Friday, was among the starters. The stewards figured that they could not refuse the entry of Sweet Pepper, which is owned by T. H. Griffin, on the ground that her owner had not been ruled off the turf, and that a nomination or an entry for a stake race was nomination or an entry for a stake race was similar to a contract and had to be lived up to. Sweet Pepper was made the favorite. iperine was the second choice.

for a few minutes Starter Fitzgerald sent the field off on all but even terms, Sweet Pepper and Viperine were off in front and, when a hundred yards had been travelled the Griffin filly managed to shake off Viperine. She showed in front by two lengths until the head of the stretch was reached, when she swung wide, losing at least two lengths. she swung wide, losing at least two lengths. Phillips, on Viperine, was quick to take advantage of the opportunity and, swinging in on the rail, secured a lead that Sweet Pepper could never overcome, and won by two lengths in a gallop. Viperine was giving away weight to everything in the race except Modred Law. She picked up 115 pounds and ran the five furlongs in 1:01 8-5 and did it easily. This filly has been entered in all of the principal two-year-old fixtures on the metropolitan tracks this summer for her age and sex. She is considered to be the best two-year-old filly that has ever raced here, May Hempstead not excepted.

The surprise of the afternoon occurred in the third race, when Presentation, at 20 to 1, managed to beat out the heavily played favorite, Frank Bell. Romanelli, who was aboard Presentation, stole a march on Phillips, who was astride Frank Bell. Phillips was busily engaged in watching Sid Silver and Maltser, and did not see Presentation come up on the outside.

The mile and three furlong track record was lowered again this afternoon in the fifth race. A full second was clipped off the previous record by Gravina. Phillips carried off the jockey honors by riding three winners and one second.

AUTOISTS AND POWER BOATS. Official of P. B. A. Has Something to Say

About Automobile Association. The action of the American Automobile annual meeting regarding power boat racing does not worry the ers or members of the American Power Boat Association. There are some bers of the Automobile Association who think that because a few of the high speed boats that are being built are for men who have owned and reced automobiles their organization should control the sport. A com-what can be done.

"If the automobile men want to run their own game no one connected with the Power Boat Association will try to stop them," said an official of the Power Boat Association yesterday. "It is easy enough for the Au-tomobile Association to say it will control he racing of auto boats, but it will be quite another thing to do it. The American Power Boat Association is not a governing body, but, according to its constitution, acts in an advisory capacity. It is formed of thirty or forty of the leading yacht clubs in this section, and it is growing so fast that all clubs that take an interest in the sport of power boat racing will soon belong to the section, and it is growing so fast that all clubs that take an interest in the sport of power boat racing will soon belong to the association.

The nules of the association have not been framed by naval architects, as the automobile makers say, but were framed by a committee of yachtsmen, among whom were some nad a study of the problems that had to be studied, and we think the rules framed are as good as could be made with the data that were at hand. After the committee had passed on the rules, the rules were submitted to the said accepted by those delegates after careful attention. These delegates from the different countries of the delegates from the different careful attention. These delegates then regulding the affairs of the Automobile association is that while they are all thoroughly familiar with the motors and with automobiles that run over smooth, hard roads, they are not at all familiar with the problems that arise when a man wants a boat built to so through the water at a certain rate of speed. I have heard an automobile man argue that if a 40 horse-power motor will drive an automobile weighing a certain number of pounds at a certain rate that same motor will send a boat through the water at the same speed. Now there are other problems that figure in the speed of boats besides power, and to have these properly solved it has been necessary to have men who have made a careful study of them.

The is rather odd for the Automobile Association to criticise the Power Boat Association on the ground that it is dominated by professional men. The fast auto boats that have been so much talk are nearly all owned by builders and dealers, and these men seem to favor a standard type of hull in which they can put theirmotors, and then the racing would be simply a test of the motor and have nothing at all to do with the scientific problems that have to be solved in building the hulls.

If don't think the Automobile Association will want to downhate the whole sport. There is nothing to prevent its doing so, but if the expert, and Lieut. Hall of the United States Navy, who is an expert on hull construction. Naturally enough, we will be guided largely by their views as to the practicability of the American Power Boat Association's rules for our purposes. I think the outcome of the whole matter will be that we will affiliate with them in this way; that we will adopt their amended rules, hold races of our own (such as closed club events and long distance events open only to fast auto boats), leaving to the American Power Boat Association all coutrol of all other events."

AUTO MAKERS INDORSE TOUR. Will Not Hold Contest, but Will Join National Run to St. Louis.

At the first meeting of the new executive mobile Manufacturers at the head quarters in this city yesterday, it was voted not to hold any endurance run to St. Louis this year, as planned, but to indorse the grand national tour of automobilists to the world's fair now being arranged by the American Automobile Association and to cooperate with that body The manufacturers took this action in to attend to in the way of arranging for their exhibit at the fair and in seeking an adjustment of freight rates which have recently been advanced 50 per cent. by changing the classification of automobiles from third the classification of automobiles from third class to first class. A special committee was appointed to attend to the question of freight rates. Another consideration that influenced the makers is that the tour itself, while not conducted on the lines of a competition, will be a sufficient test of the reliability of the cars participating and that all the cars that make the journey from New York and arrive on time at each night's stopping place will amply demonstrate endurance qualities.

J. Wesley Allison, the third vice-president, resigned and was elected secretary, and P. W. Bennett was elected third vice-president. The question of holding the annual shows at an earlier date was discussed and a committee was appointed with power to arrange for an earlier date with the Madison Square Garden Company and the Coliseum Company in Chicago.

Charles Clifton made a report on the progress of the arrangements for the automobile exhibit at St. Louis.

Minnesota Challenges Columbia to Play Basketball.

Harry Fisher, manager of the Columbia basketball team, received yesterday a letter from Walter G, Deering, manager of the five of the University of Minnesota, challenging the local players to a series of games for the national intercollegiate championship. Columbia, by defeating the University of Penn-lumbia, by defeating the University of Pennsylvania on Tuesday night, has a clean record of eight games won and none lost, and now has the championship of the Eastern colleges won. Minnesota won the championship of the Western Conference Intercollegiate Association, and proposes that the series of games shall be played in Minneapelis, guaranteeing the local players all their expenses for the trip.

This game, if arranged, will settle the national intercollegiate ohampionship for 1904. There is, however, little likelihood that the Columbia faculty will permit the local students to take a trip that will cut nearly two weeks out of the college course, as much objection has been made to the length of the schedule which has already been played. Besides, there are four seniors on the Columbia teem, and they are unwilling to risk losing their degrees this spring by taking so much time away from their studies.
